

or should they be called the Flowering Tea? - They are all one in the same.

Our blooming teas use the seasonal-picked silver needle teas as the base. Each are hand-tied with full-bloom flowers.

The blooming tea, while maintaining the traditional tea taste, combines the robust fragrances and the artistic look stemming from the blossoms of the natural flowers.

Before the tea blooms, the blooming tea ball looks like this:

After pouring in hot water, the blooming tea transforms into art.

We carefully select the highest quality tea leaves and flowers during the optimal time of the season and guarantee the most fresh and natural taste.

Still wondering how the transformation from bud to flowering works? Watch how they bloom.
